

As part of their One Planet, Ours! exhibit during the summer of 2008, the U.S. Botanic Garden held a series of Family Days. Children visiting the Sustainable Schoolyard exhibit were given pencils, markers and paper and were asked to design their ideal schoolyard. A few were interviewed and were asked to describe their pictures. Here are some of their designs.

All photos © Sharon Danks.